Overview

Experienced in international commercial litigation and arbitration, Steven Elliott KC is known for his ability to find solutions in difficult cases. Steven has been described in leading directories as being “ferociously clever”, as having an “encyclopedic knowledge of the law” and as being “very practical in how he approaches a case”.

Steven’s experience in England has been concentrated in the Commercial Court, the Chancery Division and the higher appellate courts. His cases are typically legally and factually complex, high in value and international in scope. Steven has also appeared in numerous international arbitrations and he welcomes both counsel instructions and tribunal appointments.

Steven has considerable offshore experience, having acted in or advised on litigation in most of the common law-based jurisdictions. He has been a member of the Bar of the BVI since 2007 and in recent years has been involved in several important cases in the Channel Islands. Steven is licensed to practise English law in Singapore and is an associate member of the Law Society of Singapore.

Offshore and onshore, Steven has particular experience and interest in trusts disputes, especially disputes concerning trusts arising in a commercial setting, but also traditional family trust disputes. Steven is also well known for his expertise in the field of restitution including restitution of taxes and other charges. He has appeared in numerous leading cases in England and frequently advises in legally innovative matters of this kind.

Steven is interested in the principles that underpin the law and has been instructed in several landmark appeals to apex courts. He is also often instructed to provide expert evidence on English law in proceedings overseas. Steven is the general editor of Snell’s Equity and co-author of The Law of Rescission, and he completed a doctoral thesis at Merton

College, Oxford on a trusts topic. His writings on commercial remedies have been referred to in decisions of the highest courts in England and in the other main Commonwealth jurisdictions.

Before coming to the Bar, Steven served as judicial assistant to the Lord Chief Justice of England and Wales as well as a clerk to the British Columbia Court of Appeal and he practised briefly in Canada.

Alongside his practice, Steven is a professor at the National University of Singapore where he teaches trusts and remedies. He spends a good part of the year in Singapore.
